U.F.A. Sunday a Great Success

The U.F.A. Service held on Sunday afternoon last, was very successful. Unfortunately Father Green was unable to be present, but Mr. Gilbert gave an excellent address, and the songs rendered by the Choir of the United Church, and Miss Nevers were greatly appreciated.

The Bow Island U.F.A. highly tender their hearty thanks and appreciation to all the speakers, singers, and the pianist, who so ably contributed to the success of the Service.

Mr. Gilbert when addressing the Farmers on Sunday last, asked some very pointed questions about the Aims of our Movement. Your correspondent can assure everyone that as a body the Farmers can answer those as they should be answered.

The U.F.A. have in their ranks men of all races and creeds, so far as White People are concerned, and have a big task to inculcate the ideals laid down in their Constitution, and the Farmers are making a success of the task, in making good citizens out of the material that they have.

We are working not only for the benefit of Our Community and Nation, but for the benefit of Mankind.

At Our Convention we are greatly encouraged by greetings from similar bodies, in the different countries of the world who are working for the betterment of their fellow men.

Some have said that the Farmers are materialists and think of nothing but the getting of money. In their prosperous years the United Farmers as a body set aside a day in which they could as a body Unite in the public worship of God, and having dedicated a day for public worship, they have given the lie to the statement that they are materialists.

On Sunday last through the length and breadth of Alberta, in places remote from railways as well as those along lines of railways, on the very frontiers of civilization, where public worship was being conducted by the Farmers this statement of materialism was being given the lie. No profession is more dependent on the elements of nature than is farming, no one is in a closer touch with nature than the farmer, and consciously or unconsciously he worships and believes in the God of Nature.

The Farmer is a co-worker with God and is in the very forefront of the professions of the Earth.

Parliamentary News

Reciprocity! do you believe in it? Sure! Then if you do, why not join the U.F.A. Why? because the U.F.A. have saved you on the price of seed wheat alone fifty cents (50c) a bushel. This special price was asked for by those in the United Farmers Association who had the wheat to sell and the farmers, not the government or the elevator are standing the loss. This special price on seed wheat alone would pay your membership fee for some years, and the act shows that the U.F.A. is looking after the interests of its stricken members.

Join up and help us to extend our organization for the betterment of conditions of mankind.

NOTICE

U.F.A. and U.F.W.A.
Pres. I.D. James Pres. Mrs. James
Will meet on Saturday
3rd. July
General Business
Sec. G. Monds. Sec. Mrs. McGregor

It was quite a treat to see the broad happy smile of all the Farmers on Thursday morning after the very heavy rains on Wednesday evening and during the night.

One Farmer was calling his mother-in-law an Angel and another Farmer was making wild promises to the kiddies about Candies and Ice Creams when they got to Brownings in Bow Island.

There will be a Grand Baseball game at Lansdell south of town on Wednesday June 30th Sunnymead "Tigers" vs Lansdell "Swifts" Now you Baseball Fans get out and see a real snappy game, then stay for the big Dance after the game.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ancien were visitors to town last Tuesday.

Mr. Fred Thurston was a visitor to town last Tuesday.

Mrs. E. Bowden of Taber is visiting at the home of Mrs. A. Hoaglin.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Swennumson and Mr. and Mrs. W. Allen, Archie Hoaglin and Mr. Gladman took in the ball game at Medicine Hat on Saturday.

Chautauqua

The Chautauqua will begin on Monday morning to Saturday evening, a whole week in Bow Island, beginning 5th July and ending on the 10th July. This will be a Big Chautauqua this year, so be sure you don't miss it.

White People

You can always tell "Genuine White People" they always are most careful not to send their Clothes into a Den of Disease but send all their Family Washing to a Thoroughly Sanitary Laundry where all White Help is Employed, such as the Medicine Hat Steam Laundry.

CHAPTER II.

Daddy Farney was dying. He lay stretched on a cot of furs, his glazing eyes fastened to the tiny window covered with oiled muscadine as though his last look would be on the sunlight he had always loved with a natural-born woodsman's devotion. The graceful expression never, often seen on the faces of those who die from gunshot wounds, cloaked the rugged features of the old hunter, the man who had been a trapper for fifty years, and more or less a trader and violator of the law ever since he had been able to set a trap.

In the rack of deer-prongs close above his head rested his rifle, a long muzzle-loading one and a shorter repeater of modern design.

From the smoky ceiling, attached to pegs driven into the log scantlings hung hair-cured deer venison and skeins of pork. Although the month was May and the air outside balmy, in the crude fireplace a hickory log was blazing; its ruddy tongues sending forth reflections that seemed to spit vividly at the subdued glow of sunlight straining through the parchment.

Seated on the foot of the cot, his chin in his hands, was a boy of perhaps nineteen summers. His face was swarthy and the features of the other face turned towards the window; his black eyes were sombre. He stood up, as the form on the cot stirred with a sudden jerk, and a dipper of water from the bench.

"Thirsty, Dad?" he asked commiseratingly.

"Burnin' up, Dannie, jest burnin' up," whispered the wounded man feebly. "I guess I'll be passin' 'em through mighty quick, now?"

"Oh, Dad!" cried the boy, clenching and unclenching his hands in an agony of feeling. "You mustn't give up; you mustn't, do ye hear? 'You're goin' to get all right, Dad. The breelins' stopped an' the fever's broke. Willer'll be back here with you soon. He'll know what to do."

"They'll have to get here pretty quick, I'm thinkin', son," wheezed the father.

"Dad," cried the boy, "who did it, d'ye think?"

A faint smile flickered across the greying face.

"That's hard to say, son," he answered. He gave a long sigh and lay still, breathing in short, weak gasps. "What do you 'spose is keepin' 'em, son," he whispered. "I got to see Dorkin afore I cross over; I jest gotta see him that's all."

The boy went to the door and threw it open. A breath of fragrant, wood-scented air entered and brushed the drawn, clammy face of the dying man.

"Adder-tongues," he whispered, a smile flickering across his lips. "Adder-tongues" or "vipers," the "bad-birds" will be twitterin' an' buildin' — the partridge will be struttin' on the ridges, rushes pokin' their green noes from the shingles. Gwaw, ah, Gwaw, how I hate to leave it all!"

The boy heard and gave a shuddering voiceless sob. His eyes sought the wide forest. "They're comin' upon the rail now, dad," he cried. "They will be here right soon."

"Will they, son?" returned the father eagerly. "Well, then, you go down, an' meet 'em an' hold 'em outside that way with you awhile. I gotta see Dorkin alone."

"All right, Dad; another drink afore I go."

"No, nuttin', nuttin'," t' all. I've got the taste of new leaves an' wood-blossoms in my mouth, Dannie. Maybe I'll last 'till I go. It's a long bettin' water. You slip along an' send Dorkin in here."

He lay, with eyes closed, as the woodsman entered. The sunlight had slipped away from the glazed window; the fire had died to a smouldering heap. Outside, a freshening breeze stirred the fir woods, as low in the heavens spread a widening canopy of cloud. Dorkin knelt besides the couch and lifted one of the old man's hands.

"Daddy Farney," he said sympathetically, "this is hard luck."

"It's comin' on to storm, an' it'll, Dorkin," asked the trapper, opening his eyes. "I fancy I hear them old trees a-groanin'."

"Yes, Daddy, it's going to storm."

"Wal, that's all right. I allers reckoned I'd like to pass out of this world I know so well as cryin'."

"It's better than havin' to trek across when the sun was on the leaves an' the birds were singin'."

Dorkin was silent.

"Let me have a look at the wound, Daddy," he said at length; "maybe I can do something."

"Look all ye like, but ye can't do nuttin'," whispered the trapper.

Dorkin gently unwrapped the clumsy bandage from about the chest, lay low down behind the shoulder. The heavy soft-soled boot had gone clean through, leaving a gaping hole. One glance was sufficient for him to realize that there was no earthly help for the trapper. Gently he replaced the bandage, and sat looking down at the aching face before him.

The trapper opened his eyes and fastened them upon Dorkin's face. "I want to speak to you 'bout Willer," he said. "I know you're a square man, an' when I go I want you to look after him. Will ye do it?"

He asked the question with a directness that had always been a strong characteristic of him.

"Surely," answered Dorkin quickly. "I'm sure, yet the last word is in five or six times larger than the cuckoo's."

"Wal, I do wish it. I wish it more'n anything else in the world, Dorkin. Go over that and tip that up to the bear in the corner. You'll find a trapdoor an' under that door you'll find a box. Last thing I hear."

Farney shook his head, utterly exhausted, and when Dorkin returned from executing the order, his mind was wandering. But upon the pressure of the woodsman's hand on the forehead, the dying man drifted partly back into the present.

"You got it?" he whispered.

"Yes, Daddy, I have it."

"It's here," said the trapper; "it's Willer's. I aimed to tell her about it soon. Now you'll have to tell her."

That box holds what will prove the truth of what I'm going to tell you now. An' that's some trinkets in that was a lot of money, Dorkin. But I must tell ye."

He paused through sheer weakness, and for a long time lay looking up at the woodsman. Dorkin, he said, finally, "I've been a right bad man in my day, one way an' another—I've stole from the trap of other trappers, played hell with the Rangers, fooled the government, done lots of things I ain't proud of; you know all that?"

Dorkin was silent.

Hoppers in Southern Alberta
Grasshoppers have made their appearance at Tudor, Alta., about 35 miles east of Calgary. This was most unexpected, as they have not been looked for in southern Alberta. Preparations are being made to fight the pest.

Meeting World's Locomotive Needs

Scottwood Works Largest and Best
Equipped in British Empire

London, England.—The world-wide shortage of locomotives and rolling stock which has resulted from five years of warfare is an obstacle to all the first magnitude which must be surmounted before international transport and trade relations can be resumed on anything like normal conditions.

One of the largest engineering firms, whilst war was still proceeding, foresaw that an acute shortage of this kind was to be expected when peace came. The directors of this firm therefore carefully and methodically laid their plans, with a view to ensuring that this country should at any rate receive its fair share of the vast contracts for locomotives which after the war would undoubtedly have to be placed.

These carefully prepared arrangements have now materialized, and at the present time the Armstrong Whitworth company is making a reputation for the premier position amongst locomotive builders throughout the world. The erstwhile ammunition works at Scottwood on Tyne-side were allocated for the construction of locomotives. Immediately after the armistice they commenced their reorganization. This reorganization, with a forethought thoroughness which has brought a splendid success.

Within the short space of a year the vast ammunition plant has been swept away, new plant installed, and the first Armstrong Whitworth locomotive—a powerful 0-8-0 type for the North Eastern Railway—was completed and delivered from their works. Today the Scottwood locomotive works are the largest and best equipped works of their kind in the British Empire. Their present output capacity is over 400 heavy main-line engines yearly.

It is understood, however, that the support which the new Armstrong enterprise has received from all parts of the world is such that its production is now being given to new and important extensions in regard to the works. The result of such proposals would be to make the Scottwood works probably the most important centre in the world for the construction of locomotives. Even in present conditions, the company anticipates that by the summer of 1920, the output will have increased to not less than 45 locomotives per week.

Protect the child from the ravages of worms by using Mother Gray's Worm Expeller. It is a standard remedy, and its use has enhanced its reputation.

The sizes of birds do not always affect their eggs. For instance, the cuckoo and the jackdaw are about the same size, yet the latter lays five or six times larger than the cuckoo's.

One Great Essential To a Woman's Health Is Her Nerves

Nature intended the brain to be strong, happy and happy as the day is long, instead of being sick and wretched. But the brain can be healthy and happy when the whole nervous system is unstrung. The trouble is they pay no attention to their social and household duties that they do to their health. It is if any wonder then that they become irritable and nervous, have hot flashes, faint and dizzy spells, smothering and sinking spells, become weak and nervous, and everything in life becomes dark and gloomy.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are the very remedy that nervous, tired, or weary women need to restore them to health. It is the only remedy.

Mrs. P. H. Ryan, Sand Point, N.S., writes: "I have been a great sufferer from nerve troubles. I was so weak and nervous that I could not eat, and my appetite was very poor. I could not walk across the floor without trembling. I had hot flashes and fainting spells. When I was on my second box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I began to feel better and kept on until I had used six boxes, when I felt like a different person. I am never without them in the house and recommend them to all who suffer with their nerves."

Price 50¢ a box at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The P. T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

The Largest Bible
Though the Bible Society has a remarkable collection of Bibles in its library, the largest and most wonderful Bible in the world is in the Royal Library at Stockholm. The covers are made of solid planks, four inches thick, and the text measures a yard in length. It is estimated that a hundred acres' skin must have been used to furnish the 309 parchment leaves of this colossal book.

Chinese Adopting English

An explorer who recently returned from China, states that wherever he went he discovered that the natives were beginning to regard the English people with greater favor than was usual in the past. In Chinese schools for some years past the Arabic numerals have been in use. The figures 0, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, are infinitely easier to learn than the cumbersome Chinese figures and as both are taught in the schools, it stands to reason that the young John Chinamen are going to favor the easier method. The Braille system is in use in China for the blind, who, owing to the prevalence of leprosy, are common in that country.

A Pill That is Priced—There have been many pills put upon the market and pressed upon public attention, but none has endured so long or met with so much favor as Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. Widespread use of them has attested their great value, and they need no further advertisement than this. Having firmly established themselves in public esteem, they now rank without a peer in the list of standard vegetable preparations.

Antique Grain Will Not Grow
The stories about the germination of wheat and other cereals, found wrapped up among ancient Egyptian mummies, are declared to be fictitious by the United States Department of Agriculture. French tests show that grain more than a few years old will not germinate. German tests indicate that when seeds are kept under ideal conditions, wheat, barley and oats may germinate up to eight or ten years, but few if any grains, are alive after twenty years.

GIRLS! DRAW A MOIST CLOTH THROUGH HAIR

Let "Danderine" save your hair and double its beauty

Oh, girls, such an abundance of thick, heavy, invigorated hair, a perfect mass of wavy, silky hair, plentifully fluffy, bright and so easy to manage.

Just moisten a cloth with a little "Danderine" and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one shiny strand at a time; this magically renews all dead and falling hair, so that your hair is not left brittle, dry, heavy and not charmingly glossy with glossy black, utterly exhausted, and tender lights. The youthful glints, tints and color are again in your hair.

"Danderine" is a tonic-builder. Besides doubling the beauty of the hair at once, it checks dandruff and stops falling hair. Get delightful Danderine for a few cents at any drug or toilet counter and use it as a dressing and invigorator as told on the bottle.

Hints on Summer Breaking

June or July the Best Months for Breaking on the Prairie

In dry, open prairie section do your breaking in June or early in July. The run-off is sand, and the soil more thoroughly rotted.

Turn the furrows over as flat as possible so as to exclude the air.

Leave no cut and cover patches. If the soil is thrown out, back up or turn around if necessary to pick the furrow up again.

When it is not intended to hacket, plow at least four or five inches deep. This leaves some soil free from seed at the surface to work into a seed bed.

Follow the breaking plow with the pack as soon as possible. The pack or attachment to the plow does good work. This excludes the air and prevents evaporation.

Follow the pack with the disc harrow as soon as the operation will not turn over the soil. Right after the first rain following the packing is the best time to do the discing.

Harrow or disc occasionally throughout the balance of the season to preserve the mulch and to keep weeds all dead and grass down.

In low, wet places defer the packing until the soil has dried out. This will help kill the grasses with creeping root stalks which grow in such places.

Missing Road-
master's Body found in River

FERNIE, B.C. June 14. A telephone message sent here from Wabdo by L.E. McDonald, district road superintendent, conveyed the information that the body of a man much decomposed had been found in the Elk River near that place.

Stationmaster Austin at once left in an auto for the scene of the find to determine if possible if the body was that of Roadmaster John Telfer, who had disappeared from a hotel in Elk on the night of May 30-31.

A little later another message was received stating that Constable Gorman of Elk, had identified the body as that of the missing roadmaster.

FOSTER'S WEATHER
FORECAST

WASHINGTON, D.C.

Warm waves will reach Vancouver B.C. about June 16, 21, 26, and July 2, and temperatures will rise on all the Pacific slope. They will cross crest of Rockies by close of 17, 22, 27, and July 31. Storm waves will follow about one day behind storm waves. Ohio-Tennessee and lower Mississippi valleys 10, 24, 29 and July 5; lower great lakes and eastern sections 20, 25, 30 and July 6, reaching vicinity of Newfoundland about June 21, 26, and July 1, 7. Storm waves will follow about one day behind storm waves.

These disturbances will control cropweather of the continent from June 16 to near July 7 and less rain fall, as a general average, is expected during that period. For past twelve months no precipitation has been in the lower Mississippi valleys and in the cotton States east of the Mississippi river, extending northward to near the upper great lakes and then northward, leaving some parts of the middle provinces of Canada and the American middle northwest with a shortage of precipitation. These cropweather conditions prove the correctness of my cropweather forecasts made more than six months ago. I made forecasts because I knew that the audience to water the continent must come from the Caribbean Sea and the Gulf of Mexico.

But a change has occurred as predicted several months ago. This will cause a great change in precipitation and while the average, up to July 7, will be less rainfall, the moisture will be more evenly distributed and places that have been too wet will get less rain. I am counting on a general improvement in cropweather for balance of June, a general lowering of market values, and advise farmers and local dealers that if they want to sell before the new crop is made, now is the time to sell.

There is a hope for the dry strip in the middle provinces of Canada and the southwest American drought. The people of these two sections are naturally over from drought, and are talking of leaving those sections. Don't do it. Cropweather for every part of Canada and America will average about the same for the next thirty years as it did for the past thirty years and I am all the time gaining in knowledge as to future cropweather that will assist you in anticipating the bad crop years.

Charles F. Henry was up before J.J. Brown J.P. on Saturday evening the 19th. instant. Henry had been an infrequent offender but for non payment of wages complained claimed he hired at $75.00 per month and if they got along alright he would stay until harvest and during harvest he was to get $8.00 per day. Henry claimed he hired Smith at $75.00 per month until harvest and would pay Smith $5.00 per day through harvest and thereby he did not live Smith for a month but for a season. Mr. F.O. McKenna represented the complainant. His worship in giving his decision said he believed Smith had hired with Henry for the season at the amount per month stated above and quit because he was afraid he would not get his wages as the crops might fail. Judgment was given for the complainant for $75.00 one month's wages and allowed the defendant Henry $7.50 per day for four days that his teams were idle $87.50 the complainant paid the costs

Canada Needs More Workers

With present prospects for a bumper crop in Western Canada this year—the brightest since 1914 says the Winnipeg Free Press—with the railway companies all clamoring for thousands of unskilled laborers to be used in construction work, coupled with the announcement that they are not obtaining hundreds of railroads of badly needed branch lines cannot be built, with such a shortage of coal predicted that Western Canada will be forced to rely entirely upon the production from its own mines, and with extensive road-building programs being deferred because the necessary labor cannot be obtained, the question of immigration to this country once again looms up as one of paramount importance.

During the war immigration was practically at a standstill, and, in addition, the energies of all people were devoted to war efforts. As a consequence development work and construction programs of all kinds were halted. Now, after an interregnum of six years, there is an enormous amount of work to be done in order to "catch up." There may be a sufficiency of skilled labor, but there is admittedly a great shortage of unskilled workers. Yet there must be unskilled workers in order that the skilled workers may be kept employed.

No doubt Canada could obtain all the foreign labor it requires if it let down the immigration bars, and throw the doors wide open to all and sundry who cared to come. But Canadians have made up their minds not to repeat the mistakes of the past. The industrious, law-abiding, physically fit and morally clean of all the white races will be welcomed, but no longer will the offerings of Europe, the mentally deficient, the morally leprous, the physically unclean and weak, be allowed to enter Canada to pollute this country, carry infection to others, and lowered the standard of our people.

The difficulty of securing the right type of immigrants, the kind we are prepared to receive and welcome, is increased by the fact that while the war-impoorished countries of Europe are willing to send us the benefits and degenerates of their people to emigrate, they are anxious to retain the strong and sound in order to re-establish all the productive enterprises of their own lands. Canada's problem of securing immigrants of the right and only desirable type is, therefore, no easy one.

According to United States government immigration officials only lack of ships is keeping back hundreds of thousands of prospective European immigrants from flocking to this country notwithstanding the post-war passport restrictions. The Chicago Tribune declares that "nearly six thousand aliens in many European countries have applied for permission to emigrate to America, and the Literary Digest says that for more than a month immigrants have been arriving in the United States at the rate of ten thousand weekly."

It will be seen, therefore, that notwithstanding the prohibitions now enforced by the United States and Canada on undesirable and the efforts of European countries to retain those of their own people who are of the desirable immigrant type, workers can be obtained if the government immigration officials justify themselves. In particular, Canada should strive to secure new settlers and real workers from the British Isles and the United States.

Other countries are active and are offering inducements to the immigrants. We read in a United States paper:

"Numbers of Italians, Spaniards, and French are going to Argentina, where there are many of these nationalities already located. Free land is being given to the newcomers.

"Brazil is not only paying passage for immigrants, but takes care of them on arrival, and transports them to their destination.

"Chile is inducing immigration by giving one hundred acres and implements to each immigrant."

"New Zealand has arranged with the shipping companies for reduced fares for desirable immigrants."

So, Canada will have many competitors in the effort to secure desirable settlers and workers. Yet no student of Canadian immigration in this country can question the need of additional population in this country. Without it, people now here must carry the heavy burden of taxation while at the same time going without conveniences and services to which they are entitled and need in order to prosper as they should.

Governments can do much, but every individual can assist by making the newcomer welcome and assisting him in every possible way to "make good," and thereby become a satisfied and contented citizen, while the lot of the third man or woman should be made as pleasant as it is in the power of the employer to make it.

Good for Father and Good for Son

MR. C. ROY PRAISES DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

He States That They Relieved Him of Bed Wetting and His Son's Bladder Trouble. — That is the Father's About Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"Thirteen Ours, Bonaventure, C. Dodd's Kidney Pills have been successfully used by both old and young as a remedy for kidney ills is again shown by the statement of Mr. Clement Roy. 'I am glad to be able to state,' Mr. Roy says, 'that Dodd's Kidney Pills relieved my little boy of bed wetting. They also helped my bladder trouble. I cannot say too much in praise of Dodd's Kidney Pills.'"

Dodd's Kidney Pills are a kidney remedy rare and simple. But bladder and urinary troubles come as a result of weak or diseased kidneys. The natural way to treat such trouble is to strengthen or heal the kidneys.

Mr. Roy acted on this principle when he used Dodd's Kidney Pills for his own and his son's troubles. The satisfaction he got is voiced by his statement.

If you have not used them yourself, ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills are not the remedy for kidney ills.

Germany Delivers Coal

Also Sends Livestock to France and Belgium

Up to May 31 German deliveries of coal to France under the treaty of Versailles, amounted to 4,688,000 tons. It has been officially announced by the reparations committee, of this total 405,000 tons were given to Luxembourg, Italy received 316,000 tons, and Belgium 98,000 tons in the same period.

Germany up to the end of May, the announcement shows, also had delivered to France 6,547 sheep, 40,720 head of cattle, 6,477 sheep and 7,575 goats.

German deliveries to Belgium in this period were 1,168 horses, 43,860 head of cattle, 6,477 sheep, 6,140 goats and 28,339 fowl.

Similarity in Food Prices

Cost in Ottawa Slightly Higher Than in London, England

A remarkable similarity in the cost of groceries in England and in Canada is revealed in a comparison of a list of foodstuffs in the two countries, made within the last month. The figures are given out by a Canadian official. Pricing a score of staples, ranging from sugar to custard powder, the whole supply costs about a dollar more in Ottawa than in London, England. Bread is 4 cents higher in Canada; sugar is 10 cents per pound higher, and jam and marmalade range from ten cents to 18 cents higher here. But in England bacon, eggs, lard, milk and Worcester sauce, rice, oranges and dried fruits are all higher in price. Eggs were $1 a dozen, and butter about $1.10 a pound for good grade. Both these prices are due for a sharp decrease in London, however. Vegetables are still much cheaper in England than in Canada, and such meats average from 30 to 40 cents a pound. Cost is about $1.25 a ton cheaper in England.

Watches Cleaned With Bread

No Other Substance Can Be Used With Success

Perhaps the most novel use to which bread is put may be seen in some of the great cities of the world where more than 40 loaves of fresh bread are, or were before the war, sometimes used each day. From earliest times in the history of watchmaking it has been the custom to reduce fresh bread to the form of dough. This dough is used for removing oil and chips that naturally adhere in the course of manufacture to pieces as small as the parts of a watch. There are many parts of a watch by the way, that are so small as to be barely visible to the naked eye. The oil is absorbed by this dough, and the chips stick to it, and there is no other known substance which can be used as a wipe without leaving some of its particles attached to the thing wiped. The counts for the continued use of bread dough in the watchmaking history.

Teachers' Household Science Course

The University of Saskatchewan has recommended the establishment during the academic year 1920-21 of a one-year course in household science for teachers in the provincial schools, the course to include both foods and textiles as well as related subjects, including chemistry.

Counting in China

Ten thousand is the largest number in the Chinese language. Therefore all large sums must be stated in multiples of this figure—the population of the country is four times 10,000 times 10,000, or 400,000,000.

Livestock Often Shrink in Transit

Can Be Avoided by Proper Precautions in Shipping

Investigation by the Colorado Agricultural College is beginning to show that shrinkage of live stock when shipped to market can be very greatly reduced. The most important thing is a comfortable car and not much crowding. The next thing is to have the animals well fed and contented when they are loaded and until they are sold at the terminal market. In other words, plenty of feed and water and comfortable quarters are most important.

"Some farmers," says R. W. Clark, live stock specialist for that institution, "ship regularly with little or no shrinkage, while others at all times have enormous shrinkage."

Trouble Brewing

Trouble is brewing in connection with the taking over of German ships by the League as provided for in the Peace Treaty, according to the British League of Nations. The correspondent states that the staffs of the Zeppelin works refuse to prepare airplanes for surrender to the Entente unless guaranteed that two big passenger airplanes shall be left and that no destruction of the workshops or their installations is contemplated.

WOULD NOT BE WITHOUT BABY'S OWN TABLETS

Once a mother has used Baby's Own Tablets for her little ones she would not be without them. They are the ideal home remedy for the colic, flatulence, and constipation of infants. They are absolutely free from opiates or other harmful drugs. They are a gentle but thorough cathartic and have been proved of the greatest aid in cases of indigestion, diarrhoea, cholera, and simple fevers. Concerning them, Mr. Ernest Gagne, Beaujeu, Que., writes: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for constipation and colic and found them to be the best. I would not be without them. I would strongly recommend every mother to keep a box in the house. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or on mail at 25c. Getting A Start in the West

Choosing the Best Time to Come to Western Canada

Those who contemplate coming to western Canada are interested in knowing when is the best time to come to this country. Experience has shown that the best results are obtainable from land that has been broken during the summer one year and allowed to stand and put into crop the following season. The best time for breaking raw land in western Canada is during the months of June and July. Then the grass is long and the sod turned over at this time properly disintegrates, thus ensuring an excellent seed bed for planting the following spring.

Of course, considerable land in Western Canada is broken and put into crop the same season. Flax or oats is then generally sown because these grains ripen more quickly than wheat, but sometimes wheat is sown on spring-broken land. Often very good crops are harvested from such land, so that the land begins to pay for itself the first season, but it is doubtful if the results in the long run are as good as when the sod has been broken when the grass is fresh and long the previous summer.

From the above it is seen that from the middle of May to the end of July is the very best time to take up land in Western Canada in order to prepare it for crop the following year. This is especially true this year, when the enormous amount of moisture has helped the land in an ideal condition for breaking.

Plow Summerfall Early

Plowing Should Be Completed Early in July at the Latest

The chief purposes of the summer-fallow are to store moisture and to kill weeds. Rains falling on freshly-plowed land are more readily absorbed.

The water is retained better, partly because the surface can be cultivated to reduce evaporation and also because there is no loss by the transpiration through the leaves of weeds. The latter is an important consideration, as it takes about 500 pounds of water to produce a pound of dry matter in common weeds. Furthermore the rains falling on plowed land help to firm it, and nature thus does for nothing what costs money if done by mechanical means.

The plowing should be completed early in July at the latest.

Plowing should be deep, at least seven inches to provide a good reservoir for moisture. Follow the plow with the harrow, preferably a section attached to the plow, unless there is danger of drifting. In that case push instead of harrowing. The weeds may be kept down and a much of small lungs and granules maintained by using the duckfoot cultivator. The disc pulverizes the soil of a summer-fallow unduly and increases the tendency to drift.

Ask for Minard's and take no other.

Returning to Old Land

While so far no general movement towards the exodus of settlers of European origin is noticed, the prediction is made that after harvest many Rumanians and others from the Balkan states, will depart from western Canada for their former homes. Europe attracted by the favorable conditions under which they can exchange their Canadian savings for the money of their native land.

A Live Bunch At Burdett
Once More the Farmers
Are To The Front
First Ones to Get After
The Rainmaker

The live Farmers of Burdett called a public meeting last Tuesday in the fine large Town Hall at Burdett, to appoint an active Committee to arrange to have the celebrated Rainmaker Charles M. Hatfield come to Burdett and Districts adjoining.

Committee elected were as follows:
Permanent President D.J. Fowler
Secretary Roy Beattie
Treasurer C.T. McKinnon

Mr. Hatfield is now on a Contract to 10th. July in Ephrata, Washington, where Mr. Schultz a farmer of Burdett saw Hatfield hard at work and he reports that all the farmers round there were fully satisfied with his efforts and results. Mr. Hatfield says if he can be released from his Contract earlier, he will be here by 1st. July and at the latest 10th. July.

His Contract here, it is stated, will be, one inch $3000, second inch $3000; third inch another $3000, making a Total of $9000 and all rain over three inches Free - His Contract usually is for six weeks.

It is stated that the rain will fall seventy-five miles in every direction from the place where he appears to be working from, he got 1.4 inches rain in ten days at Ephrata. He has been a Rain-maker for 15 years.

It was very pleasing to see the worthy Treasurer handling with practised delicacy and care the cheques that were handed in to him by the farmers, we heard that the Treasurer in little over one hour took in over Eight Hundred Dollars, so anxious are the farmers for rain.

The Territory is so large, reaching from Taber on the West to Seven Persons on the East and a few miles on the other side of the Boundary line South to near Hinton on the North, that it will only need for each farmer to give two or three dollars each to raise this $9000, and who would not give that for just a chance of a good rain. We understand that this new organization will be known as "The United Agricultural Association."

J. Riding and Elmer Clark had a Wrestling Bout last Tuesday in town for the best two out of three for a valuable money Prize; Riding was the winner with two straight falls.
